

23 August 2023

BA-01 Exploration Well Update

- Drilling and testing has concluded at the BA-01 exploration well
- Four zones of interest were tested with no hydrocarbons produced

Cue Energy Limited (ASX: CUE) provides an update on the BA-01 exploration well in the Mahato PSC, Indonesia.

The well was spud on the 28th July 2023 and reached a depth of 2800ft.

Upon the completion of drilling, wireline logging was conducted, which identified four zones of interest in the Duri and Bekasap formations. All four of these zones were tested and produced no hydrocarbons.

Consequently, the decision was made to plug and abandon the BA-01 well and the rig has been demobilised.

Cue CEO, Matthew Boyall, commented on the result; “While the results from the BA-01 well are disappointing, it’s important to highlight that focus remains on development drilling and increasing oil production from the PB field, an integral driver of Cue’s revenue. The Mahato PSC contains a range of untapped exploration opportunities which the joint venture will continue to evaluate with the intent of identifying potential targets for future drilling.”

Authorised by Matthew Boyall, CEO

Any queries regarding this announcement should be directed to the Company on +61 3 8610 4000 or email mail@cuenrg.com.au.

General Legal Disclaimer

Various statements in this document may constitute statements relating to intentions, opinion, expectations, present and future operations, possible future events and future financial prospects. Such statements are not statements of fact and are generally classified as forward-looking statements that involve unknown risks, expectations, uncertainties, variables, changes and other important factors that could cause those future matters to differ from the way or manner in which they are expressly or impliedly portrayed in this document. Some of the more important of these risks, expectations, uncertainties, variables, changes and other factors are pricing and production levels from the properties in which the Company has interests, or will acquire interests, and the extent of the recoverable reserves at those properties. In addition, the Company has a number of exploration permits. Exploration for oil and gas is expensive, speculative and subject to a wide range of risks.

Individual investors should consider these matters in light of their personal circumstances (including financial and taxation affairs) and seek professional advice from their accountant, lawyer or other professional adviser as to the suitability for them of an investment in the Company.

Except as required by applicable law or the ASX Listing Rules, the Company does not make any representation or warranty, express or implied, as to the fairness, accuracy, completeness, correctness, likelihood of achievement or reasonableness of the information contained in this document, and disclaims any obligation or undertaking to publicly update any forward-looking statement or future financial prospects resulting from future events or new information. To the maximum extent permitted by law, none of the Company or its agents, directors, officers, employees, advisors and consultants, nor any other person, accepts any liability, including, without limitation, any liability arising out of fault or negligence for any loss arising from the use of the information contained in this document.

Reference to “CUE” or “the Company” may be references to Cue Energy Resources Limited or its applicable subsidiaries.

About Cue Energy

Cue Energy Resources Limited is an Australian Securities Exchange (ASX:CUE) listed oil and gas production and exploration company based in Melbourne. Cue’s FY2022 revenue was A$44 million from gas and oil production from the Mahato and Sampang PSCs, Indonesia and Mereenie, Palm Valley and Dingo fields, onshore Australia and the Maari field, offshore New Zealand